THE TANEY COUNTY REPUBLICAN.

The publishers of The Taney County Republican present this newspaper to the public in the belief that the time has come for the appearance of a Republican paper at the county seat of Taney county. They have acquired control of the Taney County Star and have merged it in this enterprise, being fully convinced that two newspapers could not hope to prosper in Forsyth. The experience of many years and many publishers goes to show that one newspaper will do well here and be generally supported, if it deserves support. The Republicans are a large majority in this county and are more united today than before. Old feuds have been laid away, old local issues are forgotten and old hatreds have been outgrown. There is no reason why men who have ever been Republicans in principle should come together again in a party which, like "a strong man armed," stands ready to strike the divided Democracy a fatal blow.

The publishers of The Republican will conduct it upon the following political lines: It will be a party newspaper in the sense that it will adhere rigidly to the policies determined upon by the properly constituted Republican authorities in the nation, state and county. This paper will make its political doctrine from the platforms of the Republican party, speaking through conventions regularly called and held, and will not follow or adopt the vagaries of minorities or of individuals. As far as Republican politics in this county are concerned, The Taney County Republican will serve no faction and have no favorites. The decisions of the majority, officially expressed, will form our rule of action.

A good county newspaper, published at Forsyth, is a business necessity and we will make every effort to meet the requirements of our readers. We will do all that is possible to get the paper to cover the needs of the community.

The Taney County Republican will not say any more about itself than is necessary for it to be judged by its course from week to week and not by the promises of its publisher. In the beginning, we will ask credit for good intentions. At a later date we hope to be able to point to the record and here we rest.

The Democrats of this State are now fighting for harmony. Harmony, like porridge, is a good thing to have in a family.

A Republican House is about to be born with Grover Cleveland on the question of raising revenue to maintain the government of this great nation. Grover may retain his authors but they will get a sad enough.

A BOLD, BAD MAN.

As an example of what Democrats are saying about President Cleveland, we quote the following sentiments from the Springfield Leader-Democrat:

"President Cleveland no longer cares to lead the party that elected him. Statesmanship seems to have been wholly abandoned and his whole ideas are centered about interests that concern his private fortune. He is devoting his energies and influence for the benefit of Wall street. The house of representatives, which convenes in two weeks, will consist of 356 Republicans and 105 Democrats. These 105 are the survivors of the wreck of 1894. Were the present president the leader of his party those 105 Democrats would stand ready to fight his battles even against the overwhelming odds of 356. Hopeless inharmonious exists between the leader and the 105 on pretty nearly every question of the day. From a solid working force extending from ocean to ocean and from lake to gulf has come a remnant of a great party divided against itself. History has hardly a parallel in ruin wrought so thoroughly and so quickly. These are strong words, but they are not too strong for the situation. The man of destiny has broken all records in disaster to the party that has made him what he is."

It would be hard to add anything to such a condemnation and the conclusion which the average voter will naturally reach is that the Republican party must be called back to power in order to give the country an administration that will command respect at home and abroad. When a man of destiny runs out of luck it is time to turn to some man who stands on a broader and safer platform than his own egotism. Republican presidents have always been satisfied to accept as guides the platforms of the party that elected them and, in consequence, they have represented the wisdom of millions instead of the arrogance of one man.

THE REPUBLICAN begins business with a good subscription list, which will rapidly grow larger.

The Washington correspondents of the New York Advertiser and the St. Louis Republic agree in saying that Benjamin Russell of Missouri will be Sergeant-at-Arms of the new House. Mr. Russell was speaker of the last Missouri House of Representatives and his appointment will be hailed with pleasure in this State.

Congress will be in session next week and the country may look for some interesting debates. Mr. Cleveland's foreign policy will be severely criticised in both House and Senate, particularly in regard to Cuba, where a brave struggle against Spanish tyranny has been going on for months. The bond policy of the administration will also come in for some sharp raps. The coming session of congress will be a great tribulation to fiscal-makers who have thrown national finances into such confusion.

Representative Hilborn, of California, reached Washington last week and said to a newspaper correspondent: "The Republicans across the mountains are for free silver, but they do not propose to follow the example of their brethren in Nevada and go out of the party on account of it. They will vote for the presidential candidate of the Republican party, whoever he is, and will make their fight for the free coinage of silver within the lines of the party. Those Republicans in Nevada who left the party because of the silver question have accomplished nothing except to make themselves of little account in political reckoning hereafter. There are not enough of them to do any good outside of the party. The feverish stage of the discussion of the financial question has passed over in California and has been succeeded by that condition where every man knows what he wants and proposes to go deliberately to work to get it." What Mr. Hilborn says about California will apply with equal truth to Missouri. Republicans in this State will vote for the presidential candidate of the Republican party, whoever he may be, and trust to the wisdom of their party for a safe solution of the financial question.

Complete returns show that Martin, Republican, carried every county in Kansas for Supreme Justice. Kansas made it unanimous just to show what will happen in 1896.

Five Seventh-Day Adventists on trial at Dayton, Tenn., for Sabbath violation, were acquitted without the jurors leaving their seats. This is construed to mean a decided revolution in sentiment toward these people by the citizens of Rhea county, where they have a thriving settlement at Graysville. Judge Lewis Sheppard of Chattanooga, and ex-Congressman Snodgrass, of Dayton, volunteered in their defense and both made eloquent and successful appeals to the jury. Intolerance can not long thrive in this country, where perfect religious freedom is guaranteed to every man.

The St. Louis Star-Sayings says: "President Cleveland has buried himself at his country seat, where he is supposed to be working on his annual message. The Washington correspondents say that, judging from the time he is putting in on it, it will be one of his ablest state papers. It could easily be that and still not take much time to prepare it." He is probably writing an essay on "Hard Times; their Cause and Cure." Mr. Cleveland need not trouble himself about the cure. That is pretty well in sight.
